Three suspiciously slow favorites were beaten out yesterday by three rank outsiders. As Turp Kinney remarked, to win; maybe the horses couldn't win." At any rate, they didn't win, and the 'getaway day,' when the bookies have the last chance at the public's money. first jolt came in the third race. when Prince of Castile, at 10 to 1, walked away with the mile race, winning with ease over Buckthorn and Surety, the faand Northwest and Coppers, played for win and place. The play on Prince of Castile was very light.

Leaf was played at 1 to 3 and 2 to 9 edds. This race moved Turp Kinney to remark that 'maybe the owner didn't want lice. Se her to win." Little Heine Radtke, the youngest and most inexperienced boy on the track, was up. Though Red Leaf was easily the class of the race, the other boys rode all around little Radtke, and he was fortunate to finish second. His poor ride of the favorite may have been due to his inexperience. Pretension, heavily played at odds-on for a place, finished third.

due to his inexperience. Pretension, heavily played at odds-on for a place, finished third.

Inexperience can scarcely be pleaded as the excuse for the unsatisfactory ride of Galvanic in the last race by Jockey Nelson. This boy is easily the best jockey at the track, and it is very probable that Galvanic was the best horse in the last race. He took the lead at once, and in the first half of the mile race led down the back stretch against a heavy wind by nine lengths. The boy allowed the horse to run himself out against the wind. Even then the horse, with proper riding, might have finished first. In the stretch Nelson did not do any urging, and Jockey Jarrett, who rede him, was called to account for it. The result was that Jarrett was barred from riding for anyone save J. H. Brannon, by whom he is regularly employed. Had Galvanic won yesterday, so it is said, it would have looked bad for Jarrett; hence the poor ride of Nelson.

In the betting yesterday Galvanic and Beau Man were post time favorites. Belden, the winner, was a 20 to 1 shot. The favorites were practically the only horses in the race that were played. The talent ploked Galvanic to win, but the wise ones uggested with a smile that it might not be Galvanic's day.

On Tuesday Galvanic was a heavily played favorite in the first race, but for some reason did not run true to form. The judges suspected the renson, and Jockey Jarrett, who rede him, was called to account for it. The result was that Jarrett was barred from riding for any street winds as to the packing of coloring matter in manufacturer's original packages of uncoloring matters. The amendment provided for an increase in city saloon license from $1.200 to $1.500 per year, and that all saloons, billiard halls and bowling alleys should close at 7 p. m. It also made it unlawful for any person to give or sell intoxicating liquors to minors at any place in the city. A lively discussion followed the presentation of the amended ordinance, some of the aldermen claiming that if the license be increased, proprietors of saloons should be allowed to keep their places of business open until 9 p. m. This was finally agreed upon and the new law will go into effect July 1, 1909. The county saloon license was also recently raised from $600 to $1,500 per year.
